NOUNCE THE HOR. NAT. WOLFE AS A (ANDIDATE FOR CONGRESS IN THIS DISTRICT AT THE ENSUING AUGUST

We have a word to say to Abraham Lincoln. He has lately appointed Mr. Bram again to the office of Brigadier General. Suddenly another position, that of Governor of this State, is offered to Mr. Bramlette, and he made for him by a party; so that it is now the somebody has seen, or now is, cheated, and we, who are unpartial in this matter, want to call attenion to what Mr. B. now says, for, what the platform says, he says.

Wal, ther, Mr. Lincoln, just listen to : plan story: Your District Altorney and Brig adier General says (resolution 1) that you tions, but by "startling" usurpations.

He says (resolution 2) Kentucky will mainain her loyalty against domestic or foreign foes. You and your party, Mr. Lincoln, must be the domestic for; for we know no other that could be pointed at.

He says (resolution 4) that your proclama tion of the 1st of January, 1863, is unwise, unconstitutional and void. He so protests sol-

He says that your proclamation, by which you suspend the writ of habeas corpus and extend martial law over States where war does not exist, is unwarrantable by the Constitution; and that its tendency is to subordinate the civil to military authority, and to subvert constitutional and free government; and that you did this under the guise of military necessity; the mera guise, Mr. Lin-

He further hails with pleasure the success of the conservatives, alias Democrats, alias Copperheads, in the free S atcs.

He says, moreover (resolution 11), that the it is the daty of the constituted authorities of you not respond? the State (Mr. B., it he be elected Governor), to see to it that, by all constitutional means, this indispensable end shall be maintained. Mark the word "indispensable."

Mr. Bramlette says all this in his platform upon which he stands squarely, six feet and over, with a weight of 170 or 180 pounds avoir-

Did Mr. Lincoln know that the man he appointed to the most responsible offices held such opinions of his policy as this platform indicates? or do the party know that Mr. B. indorses this platform, for he does not say a word about it in accepting the office? or do the party intend to stand by it them-

If some of our soldiers in the field were to hear of the daring, blood-thirsty marner in which some of our vigorous prosecution-of-the-war patriots talk, a sense of humiliating inferiority would fairly overpower them. If they could hear of the terrible exploits these imaginative heroes perform, they would blank out their own performances. If they could hear them talk of exterminating rebels root and branch, and how it should be love, they would wonder at their civil position. Hotspurs killing a score or so of a morning before breakfast would be nothing. Indeed, since the romances of Amadis de Gaul. Palmerin of England, history nor poetry have ever paralleled these men, and even they fall short. Nothing, we are confident, approaches them since Gorin's cavaliers in the Cromwell revolution, or the soldiers of Hanky pankypiny-po, King of the Cannibal Islands, who not only killed but ste their enemies.

When compared with our Generals in the field, they are incomparably superior. It was they, not Grant, McDowell, Hunter, or Dupont, who have taken Vicksburg, Richmond, and Charleston-on paper. They can show lette to the office of District Attorney, and that Rosecrans is incompetent; that Critten den and Rousseau are failures; and that no body knows anything about war but themselves. They can take a town as easy as some accepts it, at the solicitation of a Central men can take a drink; and they talk of the destruction of lives as if they could check on heaven for a supply to fill their places as easily creed of Mr. Branlette. With such undeniable proofs of patriotism and ability; with such zeal for a vigorous prosecution of the war, it is not surprising that they call all people traitors who do not acquiesce in their own mode of carrying it on: but have assailed our institutions by startling it is surprising how they don't enlist. They have a unanimous enthusiasm on this point. They don't enlist in large numbers. They vigorously stay at home, when it comes to that. They are heroic home guards, who are resolved never to desert their homes, except in case of invasion. Their blood is up on that point, and a more resolute set of men are no to be found. They are as unanimous in this as in their denunciation of all persons who do not acquiesce in their own mode of conducting the war.

Now, we can say to these men that the country wants their services; that the United States has a market for every one of them who wishes to prove the truth of his assertions by his acts. Col. Pennebaker, Col. Dent, Col. Grigsby, the Louisville Legion-in short, all the Kentucky regiments are anxious for more men to fill up their ranks. There are recruiting offices all over Louisville. (For the Louisville Democrat.) LCGAN COUNTY, May 4:h, 1863. Editors: A communication appeared in the Journal this morning, in regard to Henry Grider and Judge Underwood. The writer says "two years ago every Union man in Logan county voted for Henry Grider. This statement is fa'se. There are a number of Union men in my immediate vicinity who did not, because he said in a speech there that he was opposed to coercing the South, and in the same speech, "Boys, I'm a Southern man." So that the man who assumes to speak for Logan county is not telling the truth when he makes such statements. He says Mr. Grider did what he promised the people to do Let us see. He printed a circular, which I have laid away; by comparing it with his subsequent course we see that that statement is also fulse. Mr. Grider made a great many promises to the people which are not in that circular. One was that "if Kentucky neutrality was broken he would make common cause with South," and in the first call for men and the South," and in the first call for men and money Mr. Grider did not vote to grant them. The writer then says the Democrat has taken the place of the Cincinnati Enquirer. Well, he should not object to that, for the Journal and Mr. Grider both claim to agree exactly with Northern Democracy, and the Enquirer is one of the leading papers of that party. It is a simpler way of screening with a Enquirer is one of the leading papers of that party. It is a singular way of agreeing with a party to abuse all the men and principles and papers of the party. I voted for Mr. Grider two years ago, but my objection to him then was that he was not firm enough Union. My objection to him now is that he is ready to override the Constitution to put down what he was ready to make common cause with then. I want the rebellion put down, but let it be done in a constitutional way. I read the Journal and Democrat both. The Domocrat has been, for the most, a consistent paper. It never advised efficers to ley down their swords; it never advocated making common cause with the rebellion. The writerin the Journal says:

"Oi! you Constitutional men, how have you changed in two short years!" There it is. To be a Constitutional man is what they object to. We might, with great force, say to Mr. Grider We might, with great force, say to Mr. Grider and his printed circular—"how charged in two short years!"

I met a great many citizens of Logan during our court week, and a very large majority of Union men expressed a decided preference for Judge Underwood to any other man as a can-didate for Congress. If he will consent to run didate for Congress. If he will consent to run we will pledge him two-thirds of the votes of the county. Mr. Grider can't carry this county if any other Union man runs. It a sympathizer with secession runs, he may carry it. If there is no other Union man out, the constitutional Union men will remain at home and not vote. Under any circumstruces Grider will carry the small Abolition vote of the county. Can't he now quint a circular in the county. Can't he now print a circular in favor of employing the negroes, as a set-off against his circular opposing coercion?

Judge Underwood has a fine record. He has never sided, or promised to side, with Secsionists; he has been consistent Union from the start. I hope he will gratify the wishes of his many friends and make the race.

The Jackson Appeal of the 28th admits that Grierson's raid is the most important of the war. Besides taking up the railroad, he he burned twenty locomotives; burned the depot and commissary buildings at Newton; cut down the telegraph poles and destroyed the wire for five miles, and captured two trains, on one of which he found a railroad agent and an ordinance' officer, whom he paro'led. He also parolled thirty-six soldiers in hospitals. It is reported that he got safely

The Union-The States-Human Rights -Emancipation.

To the Editor of the New York Tribus Sir: In your journal of this date, after citing from the Frankfort Commonwealth an advertisement of two negroes committed to the Jefferson County (Ky.) jail as runaway slaves, and who, having come within the Union lines from Mississippi, are presumed to belong unquestionably to the class "ordered and declared" to be free by the Proclamation of Janary 1 was a superior of the class of the cl

Now, I am not of the number of those who hold to the constitutional doctrines lately urged upon your attention by some of your correspondents; on the contrary, I agree with ou that the Federal Government has no right. except that which pertains to the war power, to interfere with slavery in the States. But I lo insist that the Federal Government is bound do insist that the Federal Government is bound to fulfill its promise of freedom, voluntarily made under the most solemn sanctions and in unequivocal terms, to the slaves in the redel States; and I am happy in the assurance given by Secretary Chase, in his recent letter to the Loyal National League, that that promise is "not to be disregarded or set aside in any event as a nullity, but maintained and executed with perfect good faith to all the enfranchised."

But, while I agree with you on the constitu-lional bearings of the argument, your inter-rogatory above cited seems to me somewhat rogatory abeve cited seems to me somewhat disengenous; and I see not why it might not be just as appropriately addressed to yourself as to any body else. Not one of your correspondents "holds that a freedman can never be re-enslayed." The persons to whom you allude only maintain that such re-enslavement is illegal as well as criminal, and that the National Government is bound to interfere for his protection; and present to the sections. fere for his protection; and in regard to the particular class of freedmen to which the negroes advertised in the Frankfort Commonwealth belong, you have, in the course of this controversy, affl. med the same doctrine, admitting the obligation of the Government to mitting the obligation of the Government to "shield every one, whether white, black or of mixed blood, who has adhered to and served the Ucion." Hence it behooves you, not less than your State of the State of the Ucion. Hence it behooves you, not less than your adverse correspondents, to "show your faith by your works with regard to these unfortunates;" and not only you and they, but all the friends of justice and humanity, should struggle manfully and persistently to prevent their re-enslavement. Waiving now all discussion as to the duty of the Government to the slaves who do not come within the Union lines, there cannot, even on your showing, be any doubt comot, even on your showing, be any doubt as to its obligation to "shield from persecution" those who, in response to the Precident's Proclamation, come over to our side. The very words of that proclamation make it the duty of "the Executive Government of the United States, including the military and naval authorities thereof," to "recognize and maintain the freedom of such persons." The military authorities of the United States in Kentucky are bound to interfere to prevent the re-enslavement of those whom the proc-lamation has made free; if they fail to do so, lamation has made free; if they fail to do so, then it becomes the plain duty of the President to remove them and put in their places men who will obey his orders. If the President, awed by border State threats, shrinks from his duty, the people should rebuke him fer his criminal delinquency.

Yours, very respectfully,
OLIVER JOHNSON.

REPLY.

Old Friend: You do me but justice in assuming that I hold with you that it is the imperative duty of the Federal Government to secure, so far as it can, the freedom of every person so lar as it can, the freedom of every person who shall, in accordance with the proflers and incitements of the President's two proclamations, have escaped, or shall hereafter escape, from slavery within the States and districts indicated in the latter of these proclamations, and make his way to the Union lines, there to and make his way to the Union lines, there to effer his services to the Union cause. You will be entirely right in presuming further, that I have repeatedly called attention to the treatment of such loyal blacks in Kentucky, Illinois, & , in order to secure such official attention to their sad case as justice, humanity and good faith unite in demanding. And now

Eli and Sally, colored persons, "who say they belong to Jos ph Bynum, Tishomings county, M. ssissippi," have, as we are officially advised, been arrested and confined in Jefadvised, been arrested and confined in Jeferson county jul, Kentucky, "as runaway slaves." "W. K. Thomas, J. J. C.," advertises that "the owner can come forward, prove property, and pay charges, or they will be dealt with as the law requires." We all know what that means; They will be sold into a new slavery to pay the expenses of their arrest, detention, food, of advertising of their arrest, detention, food, of advertising them as aforesaid—[not in the Tribune—that is all free—but in the Frankfort Commonwealth]—and thus they will return to the drear obscurity from which they have suddealy emerged. Their case is that of many bundreds beside—I believe of thousande—in Kentucky alone, Things in human shape have for more than a year past made a regular and lucrative business of catching such men and women, not only on their way North through Kentucky, but when merely touching on a steamboat at some point in that State, on their way to find a region where color is not a crime. We both want to stop this, and undo the wrong already inflicted; how is it to be have it done according to law-that neither of us purport to inaugurate a rebellion, at least, antil we finish that already on hand. For you or me, it is sufficient to entitle these person to liberty that they are human beings, con fessedly of full age, and not even accused of any wrong beside being, the one "black," the other "copper-colored," But we do not pro-pose to procure their freedom on the naked ground of their humanity and of their consequest right to liberty, but on that of their right to it under the President's Proclamation, because of their escape from rebel service into a loyal region. Let us suppose now that the President, after due consultation, requires the Attorney General to direct the District Attorney for the District of Kentucky to take the proper steps to secure the freedom of those persons, insti-tuting the necessary proceedings for that pur-pose. Suppose them brought into court under those proceedings, the two proclamations duly put in evidence, with Mr. W. K. Thomas' advertisement, the story of the parties told, and the case for the plaintiff here rested.

What then?
"May it please your honor," says the attorney for Thomas, or for Kentucky, "we admit all that is set forth in those documents. We are not here to question the authenticity nor the proper validity of those Presidential proclamations, which do not even attempt to give free negroes a right of domicile upon, or even of passage through, our territory. Kentucky is a loyal Union State, and intends to perform the duties and insist on the immunities pertaining to that position. We are not here to contend that the negroes in Tishomin to contend that the begroes in lishom in go county, Mississippi, are not freed, or at least entitled to run for their freedom, by the proclamations here in evidence, which do not even assume to fix the status of negroes in Kentucky, nor in any other loyal State. But this is a slave State, and our laws are such as the preservation of slavery absolutely requires. I need not not, surely, argue to you quires. I need not not, surely, argue to you that to let strange negroes roam over our State at will, heading for the North star by night, and lurking in cur swamps and slave quarters by day, would be utterly fatal to our series of the strange or could not endure it in peace; much less in war. We have laws, therefore, which prescribe the source to be pursued with all strange negroes found roaming at large in our State, whom no the shore, when this noble African said. white owns or is accountable for. In rigid accordance with those laws, these persons (or things) have been arrested, imprisoned, advertised, and are about to be sold. They may or may not have once belonged to Joseph Bynum, of Mississippl, aforesaid—we have only their word for that, and negro testimony is of no avail in the case—but said Bynum. is of no avail in the cisc—but said Bynum does not appear, nor any other claimant; so we shall deal with them according to cur laws, and we protest against any interference to subvert the settled policy and plain statutes of Kentucky. Hands off, if you please!"

Now, there may be a conclusive rejoinder to this plea—I shall be very glad to learn that there is—but I am not yet aware of it, and must act according to my present light and knowledge. To insist that such treatment by Kentucky of loyal fugitives from Missis sippi is unjust and inhuman, were idle; for slave laws are necessarily unjust and inhuman. Slavery cannot be maintained without such. I believe, therefore, subject always to correction by the Attorney General, that the wise and safe course is for the Federal Executive to make proper representations, either public or private, to the State authorities of Kentucky, urging them to consider the exceptional and anomalous case of these fugitives from rebel slavery, and instruct their subordinates to liberate those al ready seized, and let those who may hereafter ame along pass unmolested. I believe this is, at all events, the right end to begin at, even though it should be found a cessary to resort to more decided steps hereafter. It is my conviction that Judge Bates, in an hour's amicable and condidential talk with Gov. Robinson, ould do more for the present liberation and future Christian treatment of these unfortun-ates than Gen. Burnside with his whole corps, under express orders to hunt up all persons in Kentucky who have been treated like Eli and Sally, storesaid, and set them free at the point of the bayonet.

Kentucky is now in a most critical condition. The recent election of Mayor in Louisville—the suddenly and strangely altered tone and bearing of the Louisville Democrat—bode no good to the Union cause. It is evident that a "Democratic" organization, in opposition to the "Union," is being secretly elaborated, and that a ticket will be supported in August which, with a sufficient varnish of loyalty to secure the vote of the great mass of loyal Democrats, will take the vote of every open or secret rebel in the State. Now give them the opportunity of saving, with a show of truth, that Abe Lincoln and his Abolition horde are defining and breaking down the laws of the State designed and calculated to preof the State designed and calculated to pre vent an irruption of vagabond free negroes from disorganized and famishing Dixie, and you will give them a cry which will sweep the State, putting it square into the hands of Pow-ell, Magofflu and their set, who are only in seeming, not in substance, at odds with Jeff. Davis, Breckipridge and S. B. Buckner. I do not think the Union cause can afford this at

I was never for "State Rights" of the exaggersted Calboun stamp. I never believed nor held that a State had any more right to secode from or nuilify the laws of the Union than a county or township. I recognize no State Rights as inhering in a State which has rebelled against and is making war upon the Union. But the new-light talk of the States, even while loval as more municipalities cven while loyal, as mere municipalities if even that—the windy bosh of leather-headed blockheads, predicting a grand con-solidated nation, of which the States are to be solidated nation, of which the States are to be merely provinces—must not blind you and me to the fact that the States have hitherto been the citadel and sanctuary of whatever freedom of speech and action we have enjoyed—that it is but a few years since we were urging States to go to the very verge of their reserved powers in passing Personal Liberty Bills, and since we were all electrified by the decision of the Suprepose Court of Wisconsin. decision of the Subreme Court of Wisconsin, that the Fugitive Slave Law was unconstitu-tional. Had such a consolidated Union as is now eulogized and anticipated—nay, pronow eulogized and anticipated—nay, pro-claimed as actually existing—been in opera-tion here for the last thirty years, you and I would long since have spent years in felons' cells under duly enacted national laws and the popular ruling of national judges, for writing and printing demonstrations that no man has a right to steal another's labor. Should we not think well of the bridge that has borne us thus far safely? Is it urged that the dark days of national servility to the relentless slave rower have is targed that the dark days of national servility to the relentless slave power have pessed away forever? I hope so, but do not feel sure of it. We live in a city, two-thirds of whose people are to-day pro-slavery—actually believe in slavery, if not exactly as just, yet as a highly convenient and advantageous arrangement—for the whites vantageous arrangement—for the whites We owe much to Jeff. Davis and his fellowtraitors for the conviction they have diffused or deepened among the more intelliger t class; s of the "irrepressible conflict" between liberty and slavery—the impossibility of en-slaving any without injury and peril to all. But the ignorant, the stolid, the debarched, the imbruted, realize little or nothing of this. The white who can boast of nothing but the The white who can boast of nothing but the color of his skin, naturally seeks to make the utmost of this. The grog-shops of the North are to-day pro-slavery, and I never heard of a confirmed blackleg who was not. Were the slaveholding rebels to lay down their arms and return frankly and thoroughly to loyalty to-morrow, I believe they night resume the government of the country at the resume the government of the country at the next Presidential election. And then next Presidential election. And then I would very much prefer that there should be some State Rights left; and so, I think, would many of those now blatant for extreme consolidation. It is shocking that a Christian woman should be consigned to prison for teaching a child to read the Bible; yet if education is to be free, slavery cannot be perpetuated. But the inhuman Black Laws of Illinois, Indiana, &c., have not even the poor excuse of a tyrant's have not even the poor excuse of a tyrant's necessity. They are prompted by a blind and bare prejudice, or a more contemptible and oppress the weak and reedy-they stand in clear antagonism to the spirit and purpose of the President's proclamation—they have already starved and killed by the diseases bern of want, exposure and crowded, miserable lodgings, thousands of fugitives from rebel slavery, who, but for those laws, would now be happy and useful workers for wages in the great granary of the West. Yet I see no way to upset those abominable laws b persuading the States respectively, in name and behalf they were enacted, to them repealed. And so, generally, with the unjust laws of loyal slave States. Yours, OLIVER JOHNSON, Esq.

THE ROMANCE OF WAR.—In many of our exchanges we flud recorded remautic incidents, which may or may not be true. The following are, however, vouched for, and we therefore give them a place in our columns:

rects me to call your attention to a flagrant outrage committed in your command, a per-son having been admitted inside your lives without a pass, and in violation of orders. The case is one which calls your personal at tention, and the General commanding directs that you deal with the offending party, or par-ties, according to law.
"The Medical Director reports that an Ocderly Sergeant in Brigadier General—'s division was to-day delivered of a baby—which is in violation of all military law, and of the army regulations. No such case has been known since the days of Jupiter. "You will apply the proper punishment in this case, and a remedy to prevent a repetition of the act."

The above is a copy of a genuine letter emanating from the headquarters of that rigid disciplinarian, Gen. Rosecrans.—[Neshville

Singular Political Prediction.—A person curious to know the result of the war, and the probable time of its termination, a few days ago consulted an eminent spirit medium, asking what time Jeff Davis and his confreres would be hanged. The medium replied that this event would take place in two years and a half from date, and that at the same time Garrison, Greeley, Wendell Phillips, and Hen ry Ward Beecher would be suspended from the same rope. For our part we do not believe in spiritualism; but as Greeley is a believe in spiritualism; but as Greeley is a heliever, he will, of course, look out for No. 1. Judge Edmonds, too, who holds so frequent communion with the President and the spirit world about the war, ought to find out all about this prediction—whether it has emanated from a lying spirit or a true spirit—and report the result to Mr. Lincoln, that he may be governed accordingly,—[Herald.

BRUTAL MURDER IN TELL CITY.—On Sunday evening last, at the bar-room of Malchu Buttingly, John Putsch fatally st bbed Ludwig Auson in the abdomen, causing his death on Tucsday evening at 7 o'clock. The murderer remained in Tell City till late on Monday, after committing the bloody deed, but owing to a strange indifference, or something worse, was not exceeded and has now made his experience.

Southern Telegrams.

The Chattanooga Rebel, May 1, contains the following telegrams:

Jackson, Miss., April 24.—All quiet along the entire route from Memphis to Lafayette. No Yankees south or the usual line; no indi-

No Yankees south of the usual line; no indications of an advance.

Four gunboats have just passed Grand Gulf, and one is below shelling both ways. Firing very heavy last evening.

The Federals were at Union Church, on the Natchez and Hezlehurst road. Colonel Adams met them with 300 cayalry. Skirmishing lasted some hours. The Yankee force not ascertained. They had four pieces of artillery, and, were, probably, making toward Natchez.

Gen. Smith commands the rebels at Lagrange. A report from there states that the Federals will unite their forces at Lagrange, Jackson, Tenn., Bolivar and Corinth, and advance with 20,000 men on Meridian and Mobile.

The Yankees returned from Palo Alto yesterday, toward Corinth. Grierson is known to be below Jackson. Scouts from Austin, yesterday, say the Mis-Scouts from Austin, yesterday, say the Mississippi is twelve feet above low-water mark, and falling six inches daily. It is impossible for Banks to get into Moon Lake until the river rises. A few transports pass up and down daily. Two gunbosts and one transport, towing two barges, passed down on the 28th. Light boats, with transports, from front of Vicksburg, are moving up the Yazoo. The display made shows the desire of the Yankees to attract attention.

A train of transports reached Hazlehurst, from Jackson, to day. Colonel Adams is hard on the Yankee trail.

A private dispatch to the Mississippian says the Yankees reached Bohols on the 28-h, burned the depot, injured the track, and captured several soldiers and one officer. Their course is evidently toward Brookhaven. Our course is evidently toward Brookhaven. Our forces are close in their rear.

JACKSON, April 29—Half-past nine o'clock at night. Communication with Grand Gulf has been established, after six and a half hours. Continued firing. The Yankee guaboats retired. They fired about 3,000 shot and shell, temporarily disabling one of our guas. Our loss three killed and twelve wounded. Two boats were apparently injured, but the damage is unknown. The brave Col. Wade, of the artillery, was killed. The men behaved like veterans, and are preparing for another of the artillery, was killed. The men behaved like reterans, and are preparing for another attack. Their disabled gunboats, after trying unsuccessfully to pass up, now lie about three miles below, on the Louisiana shore. The enemy engaged, on the morning of the 28th, a large body at Hard Times, on the Louisiana shore, five miles above Grand Gulf.

MOBILS, April 30.—Official information is received that the sloop-of-war Proble was burned on the 28th, off Pensacola. Total loss, with her armament.

RICHMOND, April 29.—The bill to repeal the naturalization laws was postponed, after a long debate, until next seasion.

The bill providing for Congressional elections in Louisiana and Tennessee passed.

Information has been received that the Yaukees have crossed the Rappahaunock. Thatrain for Hamilton's Crossing, this morning, only went as far as Gaines', and returned.

JACKSON, MISS., April 30.—Six gunboats, with two transports lashed to them, passed Grand Gulf last night. The enemy is on the Louisiana shore, below.

Colonel Adams met a Yankee cavalry raid, near Fayette, and drove them from toward Brookhaven. They were reported there in force. At one o'clock in the afternoon, on the 29th, one hundred mounted men left Natches to John Colonel Adams, who, with his regiment and two mounted pieces, was marching to intercept Yankee movements toward Baton

Irish Immigration-Touching Scenes. The warm-heartedness of the Irish people is touchingly illustrated at times, especially on the arrival of immigrant ships from across the Atlantic. The Philadelphia Gazette, noticing the arrival at that port of the ship Tonawanda, from Liverpool, with 441 passengers, principally Irish immigrants, notes the following affecting scenes: Upon the dock there must have been several hundred people, friends and relatives of those now for the first time touching American soil. To describe what followed passes our powers. In the crowd were servant girls by the dozen, who, by their scanty carn-ings, had saved the money by which was paid the passage of no inconsiderable num-ber of those who now descended from the deck of the Tonawanda to the dust of Walnutber of those who now descended from the deck of the Tonawands to the dust of Walnutstreet dock. Among those whom we saw in the crowd was a deaf and dumb man. He had come to meet a widowed sister with several children. He waited, with feelings undercontrol, until he saw the woman coming over the ship's side, with a good natured fellow-pa-seenger helping the children after her. He hade a rush at her, took her in his arms, mun bled inarticulate sounds, and then gave expression to his feelings by lying on his back at dkicking upward in very joy. He sprang up in a noment or two and went to the children a. The youngest one he stood on its head against a wharf-post, and was about to toos and increase in the first of his coat collar.

There was a girl there who had brought out from Tipperary an old mother. At the joy of seein; her the daughter fainted, and was kindlycar, fied to the Ridgeway House for restoration. Excessive joy affected her as the opposite extrame excessive grief. Her transport had almost proved to be productive of serious consequences.

PORT HUDSON TO B. I CUT OFF .- The New Orleans correspondent of the New York Tri-

General Banks is doubtless intent upon cutdenoral Banks is doubtess intent upon custing off the supplies and destroying the means of tr. unsportation of the enemy so snugly enscore and at Port Hudson. Should this object be successfully accomplished, the rebel strong-bald must necessarily be evacuated. The hold must necessarily be evacuated. The General is seemingly endeavoring to put to the best advantage the remaining period of service of his nine months' volunteers. I am credibly informed that the time of discharge and the service in June 2018 and 1918 a for nearly thirty regiments will expire in June. The hopes of the rebels are based upon autic ipated movements against our forces under Magruder from Texas and Kirby Smith from

A COMPLIMENTARY NOTICE OF JAS. B. CLAY. A cotemporary, noticing the renegade son of "Harry of the West," says:

Cumberland River Affairs.

[Correspondence of the Louisville Democrat.] CLARKSVILLE, TENNESSEE, Tuesday, May 5, 1863.

Messrs. Editors: Col. Boone returned from his scout across the Cumberland last night. The whole of the well arranged plan for the capture of Ross and his force was destroyed by the persevering zeal of woman. While Col. Boone's expedition was crossing Sunday night, by the slow way of a small and tedious ferry, a woman living on the other side of the river, noticed the movement and calling her | quested. carriage immediately, drove rapidly to Charlotte, and warned Col. Ross of our approach. Ross was occupying Charlotte with a force of these hundred men, and Col. Boone pushed rapidly forward and surrounded the place in the night, expecting to give the "rebs" thunnest, but the bird had flown.

Ross had received the timely warning, and hastily skedaddled a 'ew hours before we surrounded the place. The citizens were greatly alarmed, as they feared the town would be Col. Ross had fallen back to the main force, camped ten miles from Charlotte, on the Columbia road. This force was represented as sixteen hundred strong, commanded by Woodward, Stevens and Buford. Col. Boone rested his men a short time, ordered the citizens to supply them with breakfast, and hastily dispatching the meal, was again in the saddle, as it was feared that the whole rebel force might find how weak in numbers we were, and move with crushing weight upon us. The expedition arrived at the river at four o'clock last night, having ridden ninety miles in twenty-four hours. The men were much exhausted, traveling without food or sleep.

Captain Valliant and his flag of truce is still held under arrest.

One of the most exterprising and successful sheet-music and musical instrument establishments in the country is that of Mr. D. P. Faulds, on Main street, between Second and Third. His stock of pianos, consisting of Steinway, Gable and other celebrated makers, is the largest and best assorted to be found anywhere. The two former manufacturers make the best piano that is made. His stock of musical instruments is complete, and his manufacture of bass and snare drums cannot be surpassed anywhere. His catalogue of sheetmusic comprises all the beautiful gems of song and meledy, including all the latest mu-The following will be investigated on Fri- sic published-vocal and instrumental-to be found in America. NEW YORK, May 6. The following is from the Herald's extra:
Our messengers from Hooker's army bring details of his movements up to Monday night, and of the movements of Sedgwick to 2

c'clock Tuesday morning.

Hooker maintained his new line on the cdge of the woods, a short distance north of Chan-cellorville, crossing the main road leading to the U. S. ford, without any important change. There was no fighting there until late on Monday afternoon, when a division of the 5th corps advanced towards Fredericksburg, meeting the rebel skirmishers in the woods and driving them back. The main body pushed forward, meeting large bodies of rebels in double line of battle. A half hour's heavy fighting ensued, our batteries compelling the rebels to full back in disorder fall back in disorder.

The division then returned to our main line and rested, having ascertained the enemy's pomilitary commission now in session here, and are awaiting sentence. Hooker on Sunday night and Monday in-treuched himself, and is abundantly able to resist any rebel attack on General Sedgwick's

Early Monday large masses of rebels apared on the hights east of Fredericksburg where we had but a small force, having sent a large portion to strengthen Sedgwick. The position was relinquished after a short resist-ance, having first removed all the guns. Some fighting occurred above Fredericks-burg—believed to have been an unsuccessful attempt to prevent Longstreet moving to craft. Louisville, Ky., was selected as the place of meeting for the next session in May, burg—believed to have been an unsuccessful attempt to prevent Longstreet moving up. Sedgwick was hotly engaged all Monday, the rebels pressing him at all points, and his men were obliged to give way to overwhelming masses of rebels; and his discomfiture seemed certain, when a Vermont brigade made a furious charge, repulsing them and securing the safety of that portion of the army.

The slaughter of the enemy here, near Bank's ford, was horrible, whole brigades of rebels being wiped out. Sedgwick however recrossed the river in the face of the enemy after midnight, the enemy raking our brigades recrossed the river in the face of the enemy after midnight, the enemy raking our brigades with artillery, causing great loss of life. He succeeded in getting across in comparatively good order, and marched immediately to the United States ford to join Hooker's main

rmy. The Tribune has about the same account as NEW YORK, May 6. From various published sources the follow ing is compiled:

Longstreet's forces are between Richmond and Suffolk. Gen. Hooker, in answer to a question from the President on Monday night, said the mat-ter of the retaking of Fredericksburg by the rebels was of no consequence.

Gen. Hooker keeps his lines of communication clear. Ammunition and rations go forward freely, notwithstanding the desperate attempts of the rebels to take Banks' Ford to cut our line of supplies.

Beauregard has reached Richmond with some forces from Charleston and taken command of the defenses around that city.

New York, May 6. The Tribune's correspondent writing from Falmouth Tuesday says the rebels regained Fredcricksburg, but cannot hold it.

The rebels are thought to have pontoons, but neasures have been taken to prevent a raid measures have been taken to prevent a raid across the river.

The news from the extreme right is satisfactory. Heintzelman is said to be near with re-enforcements from Washington.

A Washington correspondent says that Hooker had taken 15,000 prisoners and lost about 6,000. Hooker is reported to be in good
